KeyMacro is an adware remover that is bundled with the media player RealPlayer. KeyMacro collects different types of information from Internet users' browsers and analyzes it to create a "profile" of that user. The information is then used to provide suggestions for different music downloads and video downloads. The information that KeyMacro collects includes what type of browser a user has, what browser plugins he has installed, where he came from and his search keywords and interests. This information is then used to create a list of recommended music and video downloads. This is quite a high-tech approach to spamming, since the collected data is compared to an extensive library of music and video files and the list of suggested files is compiled based on that comparison. There is no free or legal way to get rid of KeyMacro, since it's bundled with the media player.
